

James J. Boyle Selects Kewill Forwarding for Global Trade Management

Extends Usage of Kewill Applications to Include Customs and Forwarding Solutions

James J. Boyle & Co., a Global Freight Forwarder and Customs Broker has selected Kewill Forwarding to extend their installed Kewill Customs deployment and create an integrated Broker/Forwarder solution that will provide global visibility of all shipments throughout the delivery process.

With offices in North America, China and the Philippines, James J. Boyle required a Forwarding solution that could be installed in multiple geographies and easily integrated into an existing Customs Brokerage system that provides comprehensive service to over 250 U.S. ports.

The Kewill Forwarding solution addressed these needs completely, with its comprehensive Global capabilities, unique GlobalControl™ shipment management, visibility across the logistics chain, and common solution architecture, it will integrate seamlessly into James J. Boyle's existing Kewill Customs Brokerage solution to enable a single system operating functionality.

"Our rapid growth required we make a change to address the needs of a larger and more global business", said Greg Kodama, President of James J. Boyle. "We needed to provide our customers enhanced visibility of their shipments, and internally we required a solution that could continue to support us as we grow. The Kewill Forwarding solution was a perfect fit, addressing each of our key business needs, and bringing a greater level of integration than we thought possible".

The Kewill Forwarding solution is unique, with features that leverage Kewill's strong knowledge of the Asian marketplace, and key integrations into upstream and downstream supply chain partners to deliver a seamless information flow. The system includes a collaborative supply chain web portal, integrated export compliance, and global visibility.

"We're excited to deliver Kewill Forwarding to James J. Boyle" said Ken Halle, COO, Kewill Trade and Logistics. "This solution has received tremendous response from our customers in the APAC region, and we are thrilled to bring these capabilities to our North American based customers with integration into our already market leading Customs Brokerage application. Together they deliver a Global Trade Management solution that is absolutely unbeatable".
